

SOCIETY

Society and clubwomen in Honolulu have been following with much interest the thirteenth biennial meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at the Hotel Astor, New York.

Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles of Los Angeles, was elected president with 1270 votes against the 423 cast for the other candidate, Mrs. Samuel B. Smith of Ohio.

Mrs. Percy Pennybacker asked the women to hear the election returns without any applause, and the quiet that followed the Cowles announcement was so charged with suppressed enthusiasm that one could almost imagine the roar that might have been.

No treasurer was elected. There was not a majority and it was decided to leave the selection of one of the new board of fifty-seven members as it contains a member from each State.

Provd Virginia antonished the convention when Mrs. Helen Norris Cummings made the announcement that Virginia refused to have a director on the board unless she could pay for it. That it refused to elect a woman to the position simply because she was rich enough to pay her own expenses, so commercialized the position, and so Virginia would not have a director on the board. Virginia refused to attend all Sunday meetings, no matter how important.

COAST NOTES.

Alexander Baldwin, Mrs. O. A. Sorson and Mrs. Wallace Alexander were among the guests.

BERKELEYANS IN HONOLULU.
Friends have received word of the jolly times enjoyed in Honolulu by Miss Edna McDuffie and Miss Edeline Smith of Berkeley, who are visiting Mrs. Myrtle Smith Rodgers in the islands. They will not be back until August. There are more local society folk in Hawaii this year than ever before.—Oakland Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO'S "ALOHA."
Every steamer departure from San Francisco for Honolulu seems gayer than the last, and the island customs of giving leis and throwing colored streamers has been adopted wholesale by the Golden Gate City.

Now the transport departures are getting to be regular informal society events also. The Chronicle says of the last sailing of the Sherman:

Mrs. Lee Holcombe, widow of the late Commander Holcombe of the navy, and her son, Capt. Lee Holcombe of the Medical Corps, U. S. A., sailed for Honolulu after having spent a fortnight here as the guests of Maj. and Mrs. William Hastings Brooks at their home in Laguna street. Mrs. Holcombe makes her home with her son.

While in San Francisco Mrs. Holcombe was the guest of honor at a number of luncheons and teas given by the army set. Mrs. Brooks gave a large tea at which she shared the honors with Mrs. J. Franklin Bell. Mrs. Thomas G. Carson gave a tea at the Bellevue hotel for her.

Leut. Col. James H. McRae, Mrs. McRae and their two daughters of Washington, D. C., sailed for Honolulu and Commander Wilbur Briggs of the navy, accompanied by Mrs. Briggs and the Misses Briggs, sailed for Manila. Also bound for Manila were Capt. and Mrs. C. W. Weeks and three children, and Commander Frank H. Brumby of the navy and Mrs. Brumby.

Capt. and Mrs. H. S. Hawkins and their two children, who were at the Bellevue for a few days after their arrival from the Mexican border, sailed for Honolulu. Leut. P. J. R. Klehl, wife and daughter, left for Honolulu and Col. Harris J. Pendleton, wife and children, went to Manila.

The big transport, with its red, white and blue smokestack, made a gallant picture as she swung into the stream and nosed for the Golden Gate. A detachment of soldiers from the Presidio had been sent to the dock as escort of honor to the officers and the departing regiment, and a military band played the time-honored airs which soldiers associate with partings.

SAN FRANCISCO SAYS FARE.

The sailing of the transport Sherman Monday seemed more like a gala event in society than the parting of relatives and friends. In the list of travelers were several who have enjoyed unusual popularity in San Francisco during their station here, and the departure of Capt. and Mrs. Conrad Babcock, who have been enjoying a comparatively brief stay in the city before sailing, was the signal for a large gathering of the smart set. Virtually the same crowd that had assembled a short time before to witness the departure for Honolulu of Ber and Mrs. Henry Sloan Coffin, the latter of whom is a sister of Mrs. Conrad Babcock, were at the pier to bid the Babcocks farewell. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parmelee, Mrs. and the father and mother of Mrs. Babcock; Mrs. John Breckenridge Babcock, the mother of Capt. Babcock; Mr. and Mrs. John Lawson and Miss Sara Coffin were only a few of those who went down to say goodbye to this popular couple.—San Francisco Chronicle.

DINNER FOR OFFICERS AT THE PLEASANTON.

One of the most delightful dinners held for a long while at the Pleasanton hotel was that given on Monday evening to members of the examining boards by officers recently examined here for promotion in the Coast Artillery Corps.

Guests thus present were Maj. Charles A. Ragan, Medical Corps; Maj. J. B. Douglas, Capt. F. W. Pfisterer, Capt. G. W. Waller, Capt. J. L. Siper, Lieut. William E. Shedd, Lieut. George Rublen, Lieut. William W. Hicks, Lieut. R. O. Edwards, Lieut. L. D. Pepin, Lieut. Robert W. Clark, Lieut. Hugh I. Knerr, Lieut. Oris M. Burlingame and Lieut. Harold F. Loomis.

Attractive Window Display

Boxes of fine stationery, gift books and the new "Ever Sharp" Silver Pencil are being shown as suggestions for Graduation Gifts in a window display at Thrum's. Ltd.—Adv.

Hosts of the evening were Capt. J. A. Gallogly, Lieut. G. L. Gearhart, Lieut. John Mather, Capt. C. D. Winn, Capt. W. C. Baker, Capt. Clift Andrus, Lieut. Thomas D. Sloane, Lieut. F. L. Martin, Lieut. George R. Meyer, Lieut. O. H. Schrader, Lieut. H. F. Burdick, Lieut. W. H. Joust.

Col. Alfred Hunter, the new commander of coast defenses on Oahu, was present and made a talk that pleased all his hearers. Lieut. Burdick sang several selections.

The decorations were red flowers, the color of the Coast Artillery Corps. Capt. Gallogly and Lieut. Gearhart sat at the ends of the table.

COAST MISSES THE HUNTERS.

Col. and Mrs. Alfred Hunter and Capt. and Mrs. George E. Perkins also sailed on the transport, and as the vessel left the dock they were half hidden behind masses of roses and other flowers sent down by their friends. Just as the vessel was pulling out they took flowers from their bouquets, and, with accurate aim, threw them across the widening space of water to friends grouped on the pier. Col. and Mrs. Hunter and Capt. and Mrs. Perkins have been leaders in things social at Fort Winfield Scott, where they have been stationed for many months, and their orders, which will take them to Honolulu, were received with keenest regret in both local army and civilian circles.

Leut. Col. and Mrs. R. C. Croxton, U. S. A., and Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. James H. McRae were among others who sailed on the transport Monday.—San Francisco Chronicle.

TIP FOR BACHELORS.

Here is a tip for Honolulu's lagging bachelors:

One hears much in praise of the bachelors this season. Some of them started the idea of their returning some of the hospitality that is crowded on continually, and now it seems that all of them are racing to see who shall have the honor of giving the best parties. Naturally the hostesses are delighted, not only to be relieved of the responsibility of entertaining, but the prospect of something novel is much relished. And the bachelors are as proud of their entertainments as can be.

On last Saturday night Frank Edoff and Joseph King joined in giving a dance and supper party at the Hotel Oakland. To start the gaieties many of their guests were entertained before the dance at dinner parties given by several of the guests, and everything was merry as the proverbial wedding bell. From this side of the bay some of their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hayes Smith, Mr. and Mrs. George Sperry, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvanus Farnham, the Misses Anna Peters, Elsie Clifford, Kathleen Farrell, Katherine Redding and several others at that coterie.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Mrs. Charles Weight, accompanied by her daughter, Juliette, left on Wednesday's steamer. Mrs. Weight is taking her daughter to a mainland specialist to treat an injury of the foot.

Miss Helen Alexander will be a home-coming passenger on this evening's delayed steamer from San Francisco.

Mr. James A. Kennedy, Miss Jessie Kennedy and Miss Mary Lucas returned on Monday from their Oriental trip, reporting a delightful time and Japan a wonderful country to visit.

Jack and Carter Galt will be home-coming passengers on this evening's steamer.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Rodiek and family are occupying the John Bowler Waikiki residence.

Mrs. Herman Focke and Miss Bab Focke leave the latter part of this month for an extended Eastern trip. Miss Focke has recovered very nicely from her recent operation.

Mrs. Samuel Wilder and Miss Helen Wilder will shortly leave New York for England.

Mrs. B. von Damm, accompanied by her two children, is going to Hanalei for a month's visit.

Miss Peggy Wilder and Master Alatau Wilder are coming home on this afternoon's steamer. Sambo Wilder will arrive in Honolulu during the month of July.

Mrs. Gustav Schaefer was hostess at a very charming tea on Tuesday afternoon in honor of her sister, Mrs. William Harry, of San Francisco.

Dr. and Mrs. William L. Moore, Miss Alice, Miss Carol and Miss Elsie Moore leave shortly for a month's stay at the Volcano House.

Miss Sadie McLain leaves on Saturday for Hilo to spend some time with her sister, Mrs. W. H. Hiserman. Later Mrs. Hiserman and little daughter Helen will come to Honolulu for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Lange, Miss Anna Danford and the Lange children leave next week for the Volcano House, to be gone a month.

Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Spalding, who have been at the Volcano house for a month, returned on Tuesday's Mauna Kea.

Gen. and Mrs. Samuel I. Johnson have moved to the Seaside hotel for the summer.

Island steamers this week have brought to town a large number of the old Punahou pupils who came to take part in the Punahou anniversary pageant and exercises, which commenced last evening.

Every steamer leaving for the other islands is carrying a large number of students, vacation-bent, as all of the schools close this week.

A group of Honolulu friends enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Dora Ahlborn at dinner Tuesday. It was given at the Cecil Hotel and the decorations were a profusion of pink roses arranged in crystal vases. Covers were laid for 10.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Post (Irene Langhorne Gibson) have returned from their honeymoon, spent in Hawaii. Mrs. Post, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, was one of the most popular belles in New York before her marriage. Miss Helen Crocker was one of her bridesmaids.

Mr. and Mrs. Post spent several days at the Hotel St. Francis, and were informally entertained by several of their friends here.—San Francisco Chronicle.

PROF. LEUSCHNER WILL ASSIST PROF. JAGGAR IN STUDYING VOLCANO

Prof. Armin Otto Leuschner, head of the department of astronomy at the University of California and representative of Michigan and California universities at the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of Punahou, has been invited to pay a visit to the Volcano by Prof. Thomas A. Jaggar, Jr., director of the Volcano observatory, to assist in the work during the summer solstice.

In addition to his work in scouring the heavens for new planets, Prof. Leuschner has also made a study of volcanic conditions with reference to the seasons of the year and the affect at different periods. Prof. Jaggar states that at this time Prof. Leuschner's ideas will be invaluable, as the volcanic conditions are different at this period of the year.
